The Director's statement of responsibility

The Director of the Company is responsible for preparing the financial statements of each year, which give a true and fair view of the financial position of the Company and of its results and cash flows for the year. In preparing these financial statements, the Director is required to:

- Develop and maintain such internal control as the Director determines is necessary to enable the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.
- Select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently;
- Make reasonable and prudent judgments and predictions;
- State whether the accounting standards applicable to the Company have been followed, and whether there are any material misstatements to the balance disclosed and explained in the financial statements;
- Prepare and present the financial statements in compliance with the Vietnamese Accounting Standards, the Vietnamese Enterprise Accounting System and the legal regulations relating to the preparation and presentation of financial statements;
- Prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the Company will continue in business.

The Director is responsible for ensuring that proper accounting records are kept, which disclose, with reasonable accuracy at any time and accounting books complying with applicable accounting regimes. The Director is also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the Company and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of frauds and other irregularities.

The Director undertakes to comply with the above requirements in preparing the Financial Statements.

Approve the Financial statements

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To: The Director

20 Microns Viet Nam Company Limited

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of 20 Microns Viet Nam Company Limited, prepared on 16 April 2023 as set out from page 5 to page 19, which comprise the Balance Sheet as at 31 March 2023, the Income Statement and the Cash Flow Statement for the year then ended and Notes to the financial statements.

The Director's Responsibilities

The Company's Director is responsible for preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with Vietnamese Accounting Standards, Vietnamese Accounting System for Enterprises and the relevant statutory requirements applicable to financial reporting. The Director is also responsible for the Company's internal control which the Director determines necessary to enable the preparation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditors' Responsibilities

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with Vietnamese Standards on Auditing. Those standards require that we comply with ethical requirements and plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatements.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement in the financial statements due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessment, the auditors consider internal control relevant to the Company's preparation and fair presentation of financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Unqualified Auditors' Opinion

In our opinion, the accompanying financial statements give a true and fair view of, in all material respects, the financial position of the 20 Microns Viet Nam Co., Ltd as at 31 March 2023, and of the results of its operations and its cash flows for the year then ended in accordance with Vietnamese Accounting Standards, Vietnamese Accounting System for Enterprises and relevant statutory requirements in preparation and presentation of financial statements.

This independent auditors' report is made in both Vietnamese and English with equal value. The Vietnamese version is the original one when comparison (if any).

THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

2. The types of exchange rates applied in accounting

Transactions arising in foreign currencies are translated into Vietnam dong at the actual exchange rates ruling at the transaction date or at the accounting exchange rates according to the guidance of Vietnam Accounting System for Enterprises. Foreign exchange differences arising from these transactions are recognised in the income statement.

The balances of monetary items denominated in foreign currencies as at the balance sheet date are retranslated at the exchange rates on the same date. The net exchange differences after offsetting the increasing and decreasing exchange differences arising from the translation of these accounts are recognised in the income statement. Unrealised exchange gains as at the balance sheet date are not treated as part of distributable profit to owners.

The principles for determining the actual exchange rates:

a) Actual exchange rate for transactions arising in foreign currencies during the period:

- Actual exchange rate when trading foreign currencies (contracts for immediate delivery, forward contracts, futures contracts, options contracts, and swap contracts) is the rate specified in the contract between the company and the commercial bank;
- In case the contract does not stipulate the payment rate, the company's accounting entries are recorded under following principles:
 - + The actual exchange rate using in capital contribution or capital receiving is the buying rate at the capital contribution date of the commercial bank where the company opened a capital account;
 - + The actual exchange rate for recognition of receivables is the buying rate at the transaction date of commercial banks which the company designates its customers to pay;
 - + The actual exchange rate for recognition of liabilities is the selling rate at the transaction date of commercial banks which the Company expects to transact with.
 - + For purchased assets or expenses are paid immediately in foreign currencies (not through accounts payable), the actual exchange rate is the buying rate of commercial banks where the Company makes the payment.

b) Actual exchange rates when retranslating balances of monetary items denominated foreign currencies as at the balance sheet date are the rates on the same date which are announced by the commercial banks which the Company regularly trades with, under the following the principles:

- For monetary assets: is the buying rate on same date of commercial bank where the company often trades with; For bank account in foreign currency: is the buying rate of the bank where the company opened this bank account;
- For monetary liabilities: is the selling rate of commercial banks at the same date.

Principle for determining accounting rate:

The accounting exchange rate includes the specific identification accounting rate or weighted average accounting rates (weighted average exchange rate after each increasing transaction).

- Specific identification accounting rate is the exchange rate when collecting debts, collateral, escrow or paying liabilities in foreign currency. This exchange rate is the exchange rate at the time the transaction occurred or the exchange rate using to retranslate each item at the end of each accounting period.
- Weighted average accounting rate is used to record transactions on the credit side of cash account when paying cash in foreign currency, which is determined by dividing the balance of cash account in VND to the amount equivalent in foreign currency at the time of payment.

Notes to financial statements (continued)

3. Cash and cash equivalents

Cash include: cash on hand, cash in bank, and cash in transit.

Cash equivalents are short-term highly liquidity investments with an original maturity of less than three months which are readily convertible into known amount of cash without lots of risk at the time of reporting.

4. ReceivablesClassification

Accounts receivable of the Company includes trade account receivables, inter-company receivables and other receivables. The Company classifies accounts receivable as following principles:

- Trade account receivables include receivables arising from trade transactions such as: receivables from goods sold, providing service, liquidation and sale of assets (fixed assets, investment properties, financial investments) between the Company and its clients which are independent of the Company, including receivables from parent company, subsidiaries, joint ventures and associates. These receivables also include the receivables from exporting from the entrusted party.
- Other receivables include the non-trade receivables, receivables unrelated to the purchase – sale transactions, such as receivables which generate revenues from financial activities, such as interest receivables from loans, cash in bank, dividends and profit shared;

Valuation

Accounts receivable are stated at cost less provision for doubtful debts.

Provision for doubtful debts is made based on the current regulations of the Ministry of Finance. Increases and decreases to the provision balance are recorded as general and administration expenses in the income statement.

5. Inventories

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost and net realisable value. Cost includes all costs of purchase, costs of conversion and other costs incurred in bringing the inventories to their present location and condition. Net realisable value is the estimated selling price in the normal course of business, less the estimated costs of completion and selling expenses.

Cost is determined on first in first out method. The Company applies the perpetual method of accounting for inventories.

Provision is made, where necessary, for obsolete, slow-moving and defective inventory items when cost is higher than net realisable value.

Increases and decreases to the provision balance are recorded into cost of sales/ cost of goods sold account in the income statement.

6. Prepaid expenses (deferred expenses)

Deferred expenses are expenses which were already paid but related to operation results of more than one accounting period. Deferred expenses are reported as short-term or long-term prepaid expenses on the balance sheet, are amortized over the period for which the amount are paid or the period in which economic benefit are generated in relation to these expenses.

The tax returns of the Company are subject to examination by the tax authorities. Because the application of tax laws and regulations too many types of transactions is susceptible to varying interpretations, the amounts reported in the financial statements could be changed at a later date upon final determination by the tax authorities.

Value Added Tax (VAT)

The Company applies deductible method for VAT. The goods sold and services rendered by the Company are subject to value added tax at the following rates:

- Goods sold domestically: 10%
- Goods exported: 0%

Other taxes

Other taxes are paid in accordance with the prevailing tax laws in Vietnam.

9. Accrued expenses

Accrued expenses are present obligations that must be paid in a certain period of time. Accrued expenses are recorded based on amount that must be paid for goods and services received from the sellers but not yet paid due to insufficient accounting documents or not receiving legal invoices.

10. Owner's equity

The owner's contributed capital

The owner's contributed capital is recorded according to the actual amount contributed by the owner.

11. Revenue recognition

Revenue is recognized when the outcome of such transactions can be measured reliably and it is probable that the economic benefits associated with the transactions will flow to the Company.
